INFRASTRUCTURE DEVELOPMENT

means

'from African poverty to African prosperity'

1. Adequate infrastructure = secure energy, efficient transport, reliable communication systems, resilient sanitation, affordable housing, job creation
2. Africa's large infrastructure deficit is a constraint on our development as people as much as it is for our economic growth ("Trade not aid")
3. African urbanization = public goods become easier to access and cheaper to deliver to a more geographically concentrated population
4. Critical challenges = supplying Africa's burgeoning population with reliable electricity, affordable housing, and transport infrastructure, though these industries will also create new jobs

“To do difficult things, we have to stand on the shoulders of giants”
